Where to eat, sleep, and play during D.C.'s Equality March

ARI BENDERSKY JUNE/JULY 2017

THE LINE HOTEL

Confess your sins in this new hotel, a converted 110-year-old church. With more than 3,000 pieces of original art and photography, the property doubles as an art gallery. And its James Beard-recognized chefs have made it a permanent pin in the city's culinary map. (TheLineHotel.com)
